

FOR THE COUPLE

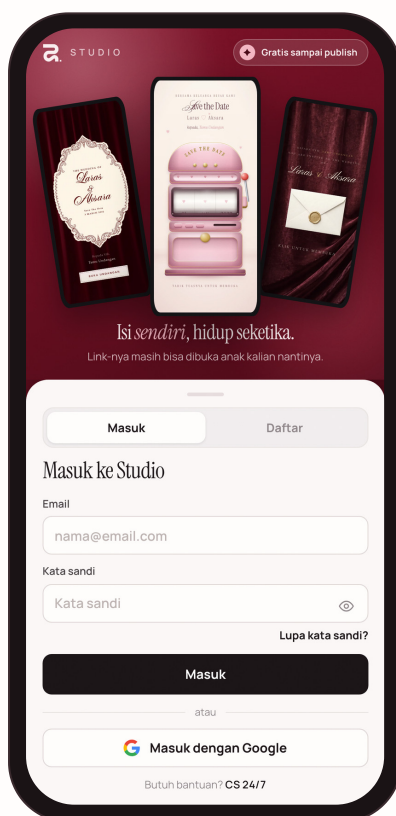

How to send your invitation to guests via WhatsApp

Every guest gets an invitation link with their own name on the cover, a ready-made WhatsApp message, and you can see who has opened it. All from your phone, about 10 seconds per guest.

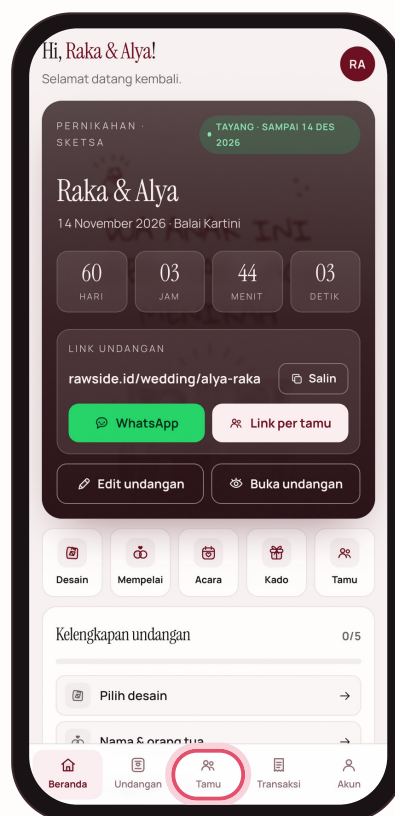

Before you start

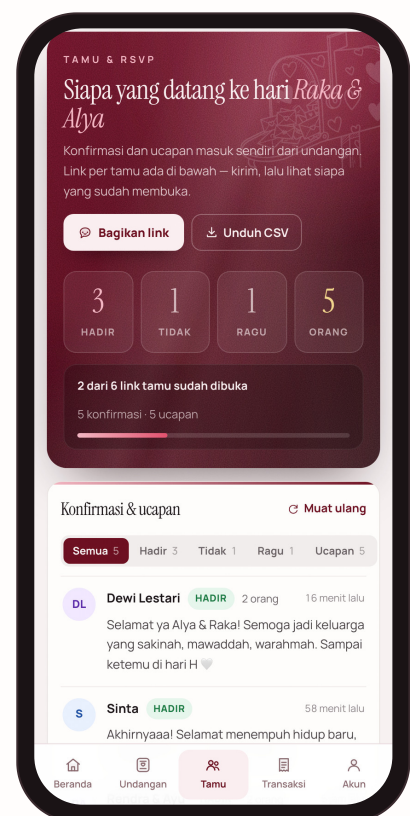

Open rawside.id/masuk on your phone and sign in. On the Home tab, tap Tamu (Guests) in the bottom bar — that is where the guest list, the WhatsApp message and the RSVP summary live. Have your guest names ready; WhatsApp numbers make it faster, but a guest without one still gets a link you can copy.

1. Sign in with email & password, or Google

2. On Home, tap Tamu (Guests) in the bottom bar

3. The Guests & RSVP page — summary on top, steps 1–3 below

The screens in this guide use a sample couple, Raka & Alya. In your account you will see your own names and invitation link. The dashboard is in Indonesian — the labels are explained here as they appear.

Fill in the guest list

One name per line. Put the WhatsApp number after a comma — 0812... or 62812... both work. A guest without a number still gets a link to copy. You can also paste straight from Excel or Google Sheets, or tap Impor CSV (import CSV).

The list is saved to your account — continue from any phone.
 The link quota follows your package (200 guests in this example).

Duplicate names are merged. An unrecognised number is flagged with + Nomor WA in the list so you can complete it any time.

Pick the message

Nine ready-made tones — Formal, Santai (casual), Keluarga (family), Islami, Kristiani, Rekan kerja (colleagues), Teman dekat (close friends), Singkat (short), English. Pick one, then edit the wording as you like.

Keep {nama} and {link} in the text — they are filled in automatically for every guest: the guest's name in the greeting, and the invitation link that carries that guest's name on the cover.

3 Send to guests, one at a time

Tap Kirim 5 berurutan ("send 5 in sequence" — the number is how many guests have a phone number). A dark panel appears and walks you through guest by guest, in this rhythm:

- A WhatsApp opens by itself
a chat with guest #1, the message and link already filled in.
- B Tap send in WhatsApp
just like a normal chat. It goes out from your own number.
- C Go back to the browser
the Guests page is still open behind WhatsApp.
- D Tap Berikutnya →
(next) — WhatsApp opens again for guest #2. Repeat until Selesai (done).

Progress is saved. Stop any time with X and pick up later — guests already sent are marked ✓ Terkirim (sent) and their button changes to Buka lagi (open again), so nobody gets it twice.

1 start from the green button · the dark panel shows which guest you are on · D Berikutnya for the next guest

B — in WhatsApp, the message is waiting in the text box. Just tap send, then go back to the browser.

i Why one at a time? WhatsApp does not allow automated sending from a personal number. Rawside can only prepare the message — the send button has to be tapped by you, so guests receive it from your number, not a stranger's.

✓ Time estimate: about 10 seconds per guest. 100 guests ≈ 15–20 minutes, and you can spread it over a few days — the list remembers who has been sent.

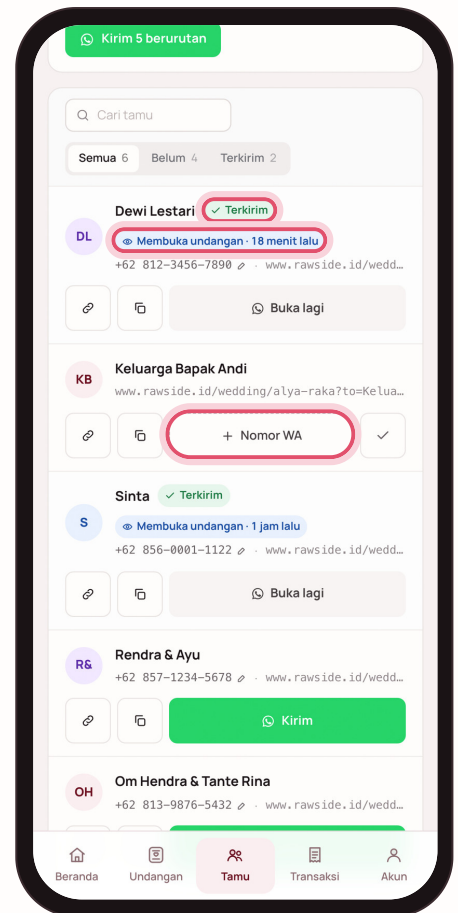

i Guests without a number are not in this queue. For them, tap the chain icon on their row to copy the link, send it any way you like, then tick the box — see step 4.

After sending

- When a guest opens their invitation, their row shows Membuka undangan (opened) with the time. So you know who has not looked yet.
- Guest without a number: tap the chain icon to copy their link, send it any way you like, then tick ✓ so it counts as sent.
- Guest whose number is missing: tap + Nomor WA, fill it in, save. Their link does not change.
- New guest? Just add a line in step 1 — existing guests' links stay the same.

i The RSVP summary sits at the very top of the Guests page: Hadir (attending) · Tidak (not) · Ragu (maybe) · number of people, how many links were opened, and every guest's wishes. Tap Unduh CSV for an Excel-ready list, or Bagikan link for the general link (no guest name) to share in groups.

The list after sending: Terkirim (sent), Membuka undangan · 15 menit lalu (opened 15 minutes ago), and a guest whose number is still missing

Frequently asked

A guest has no WhatsApp / no number?

Tap the chain icon on their row to copy the link, then send it any way you like. Or tick the box once you have sent it manually.

Want to change the message after some are sent?

Sure. Edit it in step 2 — guests not yet sent get the new message; those already sent are not affected.

Can I send from a laptop?

Yes — WhatsApp Web opens in a new tab. Same rhythm: send in WhatsApp, come back, Berikutnya.

A guest says the link will not open?

Make sure the link was sent whole (not cut off). If it still fails, message CS with the guest's name.

Typed a number wrong?

Tap the number on the guest's row, fix it, save. Their link does not change.

Can I add guests later?

Any time. Existing links stay valid. The number of links follows your package; if it is full, upgrade from the Package page.

The “Terkirim” marks are gone on another phone?

Sent marks are stored on the phone you sent from. On a new phone, check “Membuka undangan” or re-tick the ones already sent.

Can my partner send from their phone too?

Sign in with the same account on the second phone. Same list, same links — just split who sends to whom.

Still unsure?

The Rawside team is on WhatsApp every day.
